As part of this process, I developed a Reusable Learning Object (or RLO) that I'm using to instruct students on how to use a Python IDE called Spyder.

Below are the details of this RLO:

As I have created this RLO for this one cohort, it can be used (with possible modifications / tweaks) for upcoming cohorts as well. Alongside this, I have created avenues such as Discussion Forums within the LMS for students to converse and collaborate regarding this aspect. Instructional videos are also being used to provide additional details and to offer those that prefer seeing videos as opposed to reading a step-by-step document.