

I have trouble paying attention during class.

So many new and strange concepts to learn.

Why am I having trouble staying engaged?

Beginning of course have some successes and as course progresses begin to have doubts.

Think and Feel? (preoccupations)

What needs to be reviewed for the test?

Hear? (influences)

See? (environment)

Find it difficult to follow and participate in class. When instructor picks me as a victim I pass.

I just don't get this and I have read it over a couple of times.

Say and Do? (behaviour)

Understand the concept and then when it is presented in a different way do not understand

Class average is low on tests and assignments

Pain Points?

Students would rather do something else with technology than take part in the class learning.

Like it when the teacher explains each part of the concept and then puts it all back together

Gain Points?

Students feel relieved when class is over. :)
