Metaphor - Imagine the possibilities!

I feel that this image explains my teaching and learning philosophy -
Imagine the possibilities!

Dedication/Adaptation: Online Education cannot happen without a dedicated faculty member wanting to make a difference in their students' lives, who is willing to keep their course content and delivery methods current.

Teaching/Learning: A Faculty member who is willing to learn more and different online teaching methods/styles as well as tools to better their students online learning experience, allowing them to deliver engaging course content that is always current and up to date.

Mastery: It all starts with an idea of a faculty member who has attained mastery in a certain subject! Create and match course curriculum to learning outcomes.

Teamwork: Over many hours of planning and building, working with many team members, an exemplar course is created, and delivered to the students.

This all happens so students can better themselves, move on in life, and go anywhere in the world that they would like to go!
