

#3 – Padlet Padlet

My first exposure to Padlet was when I took my first Ontario Extend course through Fanshawe College. Fanshawe college takes the material from Ontario Extends and provides it under the FOL (Fanshawe Online Learning System). The facilitator used Padlet as a Collaborator Introduction and I found it quite useful.

Before being introduced to Padlet, I would provide my students with a discussion group to introduce themselves.

Get to know your online classmates

Welcome everyone! If you wish, please participate in the following orientation discussion by posting some information about you to the rest of the class. Comment on the posts of others that interest you.

1. What is your name?
2. Where were you born and raised?
3. What do you hope to get out of this course?
4. What do you like to do in your spare time?
5. Tell the class one surprising/interesting/unusual fact about yourself.

This was as a standard discussion group with threads one would select individually.

I like the ease of Padlet and will be introducing this as a form of introduction starting in January 2022.

Introduce yourself to the group! What is your favourite collaboration tool to use?

Hello All!
My name is [redacted], and I started teaching in the Kinlin school just before the pandemic hit. My course now is Intro to Business, and then the winter semester course is on Leadership & Management Fundamentals. The online environment for teaching has been new, and at times difficult, for some professors. However, I was remotely managing people in other countries online since 2011. We needed to use many collaborative tools

Good morning, this is my first Ontario extend course. My last personal development course was Teaching Online Certificate from Quality Matters. This was a great course consisting of 7 different modules. I have been with Fanshawe since January 2011, before joining Fanshawe, I taught at Seneca College in Toronto.

Teaching has changed over the 30 plus years I have taught, as we become more of a facilitator in our roles, we must adapt to new

Hello

Hello this is my 4th Ontario extend course. I am really enjoying the earning and have been able to use learning as we go this semester. I teach and coordinate in the Early Childhood Education Program

PS my favourite tool is Google iambard

Hello. Collaborator is my first module.
I have been teaching in the Office Administration Program- Department of IT, Faculty of Business for 10 years. I have been partial load for the last 6 years. Collaborator is my first module. I am a newbie with Twitter but I enjoy following my contacts in Linked In. I have used MS teams in my previous role with the Government of Canada (Service Canada). I am looking forward to making connections and learning

Hello and welcome!
Hi everyone and welcome to the collaborator workshop. My name is [redacted] and I teach in the School of Tourism and Hospitality and I work in the Organizational Development and Learning department. This module is probably my favourite of all of the Ontario Extend modules. I love collaborating and I love building my PLN and making new connections. My favourite collaboration tool at the moment is MS Teams. I like how easy it is to share files and I find the
