

<https://h5p.org/node/100161>

Enter your "Students" response:

For my target audience if I will be using a specific tool such as padlet, yes my learners can have access to the padlet.

Easy to support by the institution.

Easy to access anywhere with the stable connection to the internet.

Just need basic digital skills."Yes I can provide the exp that justifies the expense of this tool.

---

Enter your "Ease of Use" response

Its very easy to use this tool, no previous study or manual required.

Very reliable and can make changes anywhere anytime.

We can export the data to other formats for the contingent phase, but most the time its safe.
yes, we can email.

---

Enter your "Cost" response

It is easy most of the time and very handy as well.

Yes, the cost is very pocket friendly.

This tools wide used by the instructional designers and digital media professionals in the hybrid learning. We can use the OERs in this tool to support the teaching.

---

Your Teaching and Pedagogical Considerations response:

Yes, I can be used by the support the desired learning outcomes.

This tool has variety of themes, which presents the different content in variety of interactive ways.

---

Your "Interaction" response:

Yes, learners can see each other post, like and comment on them.

This tool also has share option if they want to share this with anyone in their network.

Yes, this technology effectively support a good balance of instructor interaction time and student comprehension/skills development?

---

Your "Organisational Issues" response:

Teaching and learning centre of the institutions provide support in choosing and using technology for teaching to validate if its valuable and accessible.

Yes, institution provide release time for a term and/or other resource support to help you in your technology-enabled design plans.

Teaching and learning centre of the institutions have to follow 'standard' technologies, practices and procedures, such as using a learning management system, or lecture capture system, and always encouraged to use some new technologies.

---

Your "Networking" response:

These technologies are all about the community building and its every important among the learners to engage with the community.

Yes, technology support appropriate social media sharing and collaboration.

---

Your Security and Privacy response:

Learners should keep their username and passwords private and don't share with each other. Teaching and learning centres along with the IT department can provide the support for the security and privacy.