

The travel guide

Teaching as being like a travel guide is a metaphor that resonates with me.

I love all the learning places that I've traveled and continue to revisit. I enthusiastically share them all with students by encouraging them to visit all the main sites and explore some less well known.

I also love talking with students to understand what they want to get out of their education experience and where they are going so that I can make recommendations to support their journey.

