

Learner Challenge: A few of my students struggle with developing concession or counter-arguments when revising their 5-paragraph essays. They find it difficult to present alternative viewpoints or acknowledge opposing arguments effectively within their writing. This challenge inhibits their ability to critically engage with their topics and limits the depth of their analysis. Addressing this issue can empower students to strengthen their argumentative writing skills and foster a more nuanced understanding of complex issues.